

SOY WAX CANDLES LATVIA

If you're committed to living organically and helping protect the environment, then you'll appreciate these handmade soy wax candles by Latvian company Munio Candela. Soy wax candles burn longer and are much cleaner than petroleum-based paraffin wax candles, which release dangerous carcinogens, toxins, and soot into the air; they are also biodegradable, non-toxic, and chemical-free. Plus, soybeans are a renewable resource, and help support the world's farmers, not the oil companies that supply the petroleum to make paraffin. The master craftsmen at Munio Candela add a bit of local flavour to their product by lacing each candle with a bouquet of herbs and spices from the Latvian countryside, like ashberry and bilberry leaves, juniper and limonium, marigold flowers and heather, and linden blossoms.

To purchase these candles – which recently won an award for best retail packaging in Latvia – stop by the Alternative Shop, at Elizabetes iela 25, or visit their web site. www.muniocandela.com
